

Reflection on Jonestown (give examples from the film for each question)

What are your reactions to this documentary? How did it make you feel?

Do you think these people were manipulated?

Do you think you would have followed Jones? Why or why not? In your opinion, what about the People's Temple was legitimate?

How can you see social psychology at play here? Do you think these people knew what was going to happen to them? Were they just obeying authority? What do you think caused such drastic behavior?
